

Do not allow the banking industry to by-pass the Indiana no solicitation list. I have no desire to receive solicitations. When I am in need of services, I seek them out. I do not wish to have them foisted on me in my home at inconvenient times. By not accepting solicitation phone calls, along with peace and quiet in my life, I am protecting myself from unscrupulous people who run scams and prey on unsuspecting people over the telephone. Allowing banks to call will open people up to receiving illicit phone calls that they believe to be legitimate from their banking institutions. Leave us our peace and quiet and help protect people who would be unwittingly scammed by these con artists.
